K. C. Ronalds Assumes Duties as Saline County State's Att'y

Named by Board In 11-10 Vote Over Lloyd H. Melton

Saline county today had a new state's attorney, K. C. Ronalds, named to the post at a meeting of the Saline County Board of Supervisors Saturday morning.

Ronalds was named finally by a vote of eleven to ten over Lloyd H. Melton, the other candidate, during a session fraught with tension.

Ronalds, dean of the active attorneys in Saline county, served as state's attorney from 1944 to 1948. He had been assistant state's attorney under State's Attorneys Charles H. Thompson, Charles T. Flota and Glen O. Jones, and is a former legislator.

The vacancy to which Ronalds was named occurred when Jones, elected to a four-year term in 1952, resigned effective December 31 to assume the office of state senator from the 51st district, to which he was elected last November.

Two Nominations

Jones had presented his resignation for consideration at the December meeting of the board, held Dec. 18. The task of appointing his successor was put over to a meeting set for Jan. 8. That was Saturday.

After the routine business was disposed of Saturday, Chairman William Alfred Smith asked for nominations and both Ronalds and Melton were nominated.

Then Harvey Devar, Harrisburg township member, made a motion seconded by Virgil Ferrell, Harrisburg supervisor, that a roll call vote be taken on the nominations. But a roll call vote was beaten down by a 13 to 8 majority.

Illinois CIO Demands Hike In Jobless Pay

CHICAGO (U-P)—The state CIO convention has demanded increased unemployment and workman's compensation laws so that recipients can "live as dignified human beings."

More than 700 delegates, attending the 12th constitutional convention of the Illinois State Industrial Union, Sunday recommended that the maximum benefits of from 65 to 85 per cent of the state's average wages be established in both acts.

They also asked amendments of the acts to cover all workers in the state.

It was estimated that the proposal would raise the average of unemployment benefits to more than $50 a week for a maximum of 39 weeks.

Under the present law, such compensation ranges from $10 to $27 a week for 26 weeks.

Duane Greathouse, regional United Automobile Workers union director, said "We are not talking about payments of $30 to $35 a week—we are talking about benefits which would be enough that the recipients might live as dignified human beings and maintain their purchasing power."

The legislative program approved by the delegates also criticized the Straton administration and the last legislative assembly for cutting the State Welfare Department budget.

Another recommendation asked that primary laws be changed so that voters are not required to reveal their party.

Robert Clay Mattingly, 81, a retired miner last working at Wason No. 1 mine, died yesterday at 8 p. m. at his home, 903 South Chaney, following a serious illness of three months. He had been in poor health for the past few years.

He was born in Morganfield, Ky., the son of Martin and Martha Land Mattingly.

Surviving are his wife, Nora; four children, Mrs. Larry Russell, Long Beach, Calif., Ava and Rodney Mattingly, both of Harrisburg, and William of Seattle, Wash.; four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren; two brothers, Jack of Harrisburg and Taylor of Blackford, Ky., and Mrs. Mary Hendrix, Harrisburg, a sister.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the chapel of the Harrisburg funeral home. Rev. Glen Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian church where he was a member, will officiate, and burial will be in Harrisburg, the exact place undecided.

Deaf Farmer is Killed by Truck

THOMPSONVILLE, Ill. (U-P)—Herman W. Dougherty, 48, Franklin county farmer living near here, was crushed to death by a truck Saturday when he failed to hear a warning because he was deaf.

Dougherty was working on a farm adjacent to his own when the truck rolled down an incline and pinned him against the side of a barn.

Big Muddy Conservancy Dis't Approved

Construction of 13,500 Acre Lake Voted 10,071-5,611

BENTON, Ill. (U-P)—Voters in 18 Franklin and Jefferson county townships Saturday approved setting up a water conservancy district on the Big Muddy river by a vote of nearly 2-1.

The vote was 10,071 for and 5,611 against creation of the water district and a six-man board of directors to study construction of a 13,500-acre artificial lake reaching from near Bend City north across the Franklin-Jefferson county line.

In Benton, where the Benton Evening News supported the water district plan editorially, voters gave overwhelming approval to the plan. The West Frankfort Daily American and Mount Vernon Register-News had opposed the district in vigorous editorials last week and voters in those cities voted against the conservancy district.

Twelve Franklin County townships voted 8,747 for and 3,283 against the referendum and in six Jefferson County townships the vote was 1,324 for and 2,328 against.

Three of the six directors will be appointed by city governments of Benton, West Frankfort and Mount Vernon and three by county judges in the two counties. They will study financial plans and engineering surveys for the lake and be empowered to assess a tax of 1/100 of value in the water conservancy district to pay administrative costs.

Construction of the lake, however, would have to be financed through federal or state aid or by a bond issue on which another election would have to be held.

Talks Ended By Hammarskjold, China Premier

Joint Communique Fails to Disclose Results of Meetings

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U-P)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold held his final talks with Red China's Premier Chou En-Lai today on the fate of 11 imprisoned American fliers, but a final joint communique failed to disclose their outcome.

Hammarskjold and Chou met at 4 p. m. (2 a. m. CST) and talked for one hour and 20 minutes. It was their fourth meeting together.

Their communique said that "these talks have been useful and we hope to be able to continue the contact established in these meetings."

It said their discussions had referred to "questions pertinent to the relaxation of world tension."

But it made no mention of the "free-the-prisoners" mission which took Hammarskjold to Peiping on a mandate from the U. N. General Assembly.

It did not refer to anything said by either side on the fate of the 11 American fliers jailed as "spies" and some 2,850 other U. N. command personnel still held as Korean war prisoners by Red China.

Hammarskjold planned to start his journey home Tuesday, leaving Peiping for Canton by air at 7 a. m. (5 p. m. CST Monday).

The communique said, in part: "We had talks in Peking (Peiping) on 6, 7, 8 and 10 January 1955. In these talks, reference was made at the same time to questions pertinent to the relaxation of world tension. We feel that these talks have been useful and we hope to be able to continue the contact established in these meetings."

A message to U. N. headquarters from Hammarskjold's party of seven said Chou gave a farewell dinner for the entire group.

Hammarskjold was not expected to disclose the success or failure of his mission until after he has left Red China and probably not until his return to United Nations headquarters.

NEW DELHI, India (U-P)—Highly placed Indian sources said today that the government of India has "suggested" to Red China that it would be wise for China to release 11 imprisoned U. S. airmen.

These sources said India recommended that the Chinese Communists yield on the issue in the interest of easing tension between the United States and the Peiping regime.

Fire Damages Store at Herrin

HERRIN, Ill. (U-P)—A fire badly damaged the stock and furnishings of the McAlpin shoe store here Sunday before firemen from four communities brought flames under control.

The Herrin fire department said today no damage estimate had been made and the cause of the fire still was under investigation.

The fire destroyed most of the store's stock and smoke and water damaged offices and apartments on the second and third floors of the downtown building.

Firemen and equipment from Marion, West Frankfort and Colp helped Herrin firefighters bring the blaze under control about 45 minutes after it was discovered.

Bar Reds from Defense Plants, Group Urges

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's investigating subcommittee reported today that Communists have infiltrated defense plants and urged Congress to pass a law to remove them.

"The Communist Party has successfully infiltrated national defense industries" and Communists are "in a position to acquire vital information concerning our military secrets and our military effectiveness," the report said.

The group urged Congress to approve a bill to remove Reds from the plants and urged the Defense Department to draft regulations barring them from work in factories producing defense material, regardless of whether they do classified work.

It said employment of Communists in defense plants "is a clear and present danger to our national security" even though they may not actually work on classified material.

Signed By All Members

A bill to bar Communists from defense plants was passed by the Senate last year but died in the House.

The subcommittee recalled that two former Communists testified that for years the party had tried to colonize and ultimately control basic industries such as steel, railroads and shipbuilding.

The report, signed by all seven members of the subcommittee, said its hearings resulted in the firing, suspension or resignation of 34 employees in defense plants.

It said that alone "is sufficient proof of the desperate need for proper legislation and adequate security regulations to protect this country from any possibility of espionage or sabotage in vital defense establishments."

The report said 101 witnesses were questioned in closed session, and 48 in public. Of the public witnesses, 32 invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked if they were Communists. Two more were identified as Communists but refused to testify.

GOP to Hold Party Convention After Democrats

WASHINGTON (U-P)—A subcommittee of the Republican National Committee decided tentatively Saturday to break a century-old precedent by holding the 1956 GOP national nominating convention after the Democrats hold theirs.

The decision was made at a meeting called to hear invitations for the party to hold its convention in one of three contesting cities—Philadelphia, Chicago and Atlantic City. Philadelphia was regarded as having a good chance. The party was founded there in 1856.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler earlier announced the Democratic convention would be held Aug. 27, 1956, the latest start in 29 years for the Democrats. No convention site was announced.

Hall said a definite convention date will be fixed later. He said he believed a better and more vigorous campaign can be waged now in a shorter time because of radio and television and speedy travel by airplane.

Informed sources said President Eisenhower favors a September date.

Three File Petitions For City Offices

Today was the first day to file petitions for city offices and three candidates had filed at 10 a. m.

Filing were two for police magistrate and one for city commissioner.

Seeking the police magistrate post are John Small and Charles T. McKenzie. Morris Darnell filed petitions for commissioner. Candidates have until Jan. 25 to file.

Urges Congress To Aid Economy Of Free World

President Seeks 7-Point Program For Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON (U-P)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to throw more of America's economic weight into the cold war against communism by reducing tariffs, granting tax concessions to business investment abroad and continuing technical aid to underdeveloped countries.

The President also made recommendations for encouraging greater tourist travel abroad and increasing U. S. participation in international trade fairs.

He laid down a seven-point program of foreign economic policy which he said would help to open new markets for U. S. exports as well as strengthen free nations against Communist penetration and subversion.

Mr. Eisenhower described his program as "moderate, gradual and reciprocal."

Tariff Is Main Feature

Its main feature was a renewal of last year's request for a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, with authority to reduce tariffs by 5 per cent each year.

In the 2,400-word special message to the House and Senate, Mr. Eisenhower asked:

1. Special tax concessions to business to encourage the flow of U. S. investment capital to underdeveloped countries. Business income from foreign subsidiaries would be taxed at a rate 14 percentage points lower than the corporate rate on domestic income.

He also asked deferral of tax on income from foreign branches until the money is removed from the country where it is earned.

2. Approval of United States membership in the proposed International Finance Corp. to be affiliated with the World Bank and designed to increase private investment in less developed countries.

Streamline Customs

3. Legislation to streamline customs administration and procedure, primarily through simplifying the currently complex system of valuation of imported articles.

4. As an encouragement to international travel, an increase in duty-free allowances for American tourists from the present $500 to $1,000 exercisable every six months.

5. Continuation of the technical cooperation or so-called Point Four program. Funds for this purpose will be included in the new budget next week. The President said this program should be "concerned with know-how rather than large funds."

On the theory that "no nation can be economically self-sufficient" Mr. Eisenhower said it is essential to the security of this country and the rest of the Free World "that the United States take the leadership in promoting the achievement of those high levels of trade that will bring to all the economic strength upon which the freedom and security of all depends."

Nation's Own Interest

Mr. Eisenhower said the "enlightened self-interest" of the Report Hits Trips by Dulles

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' frequent diplomatic trips to Europe were sharply criticized Sunday night in a staff report released by Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.).

Dulles was criticized for over-emphasizing "personal diplomacy" and bypassing normal diplomatic channels.

The report was written by Brig. Gen. Julius Klein, of the Illinois National Guard, who was sent to Europe last fall by Bridges and former Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.), chairman of an appropriations subcommittee.

They sent the non-paid consultant to check on the situation following collapse of the European Defense Community.

Klein also criticized the administration of U. S. foreign aid programs by overseas missions.

Klein, who criticized Dulles for going to Europe so often "to personally conduct our foreign relations," said he observed the secretary first-hand in Europe when the new German rearmament plan was drafted following collapse of the European Defense Community.

End of A Sad Chapter

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
With the issuance of the recent report charging the great tax-exempt foundations with promoting socialism and subversion, a sad chapter in the history of congress-sional investigations comes to an end.

In the truest sense, this report
of a special House committee headed by Rep. Carroll Reece of Tennessee is not even a majority report. Of the three Republicans who signed it, one did so with "strong reservations." And the two Democrats filed a vigorous dissent from the Reece "findings."

From start to finish this was an ill-starred inquiry. It really began in the summer of 1953, when Reece bitterly assailed the foundations in a speech urging funds for the investigation. The money was voted, even though another look at these organizations had been concluded just six months earlier.

From then until the spring of 1954, the staff of Reece's committee was engaged in preliminary research preparatory to public hearings.

When those hearings were launched, a principal staff member opened the way with a long series of "tentative conclusions." This was the first time in the memory of Washington observers that a congressional committee had announced conclusions before taking a single word of public testimony.

Thereafter, Reece paraded before the committee a succession of witnesses who attacked the foundations along the lines forecast by his 1953 speech and the staff's tentative findings.

The foundations themselves were never allowed to state their case in public. Reece called off the public sessions before this could happen. They had to present their side in written statements, with no opportunity to develop their arguments in the give and take of open hearings. Reece has not yet published these statements.

On its face, this record violates virtually every precept of fair play
to which Americans are dedicated.
Reece has offered no satisfactory defense of these procedures, which ought to embarrass every member of Congress.

Reece set out in advance to "prove" that the foundations had either directed or quietly acquiesced in a "plot" to foist socialism and internationalism upon the United States. Mind you, he is talking about the Rockefeller, Carnegie, Ford and other organizations whose management roster reads like a who's who of top American businessmen.

To support his charges, he now offers nothing but his own preconceived opinions, flimsily buttressed by the testimony of witnesses who never demonstrated any major qualifications for even discuss-

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Democratic Caucus Gave Vent
To Pent-Up Resentment
Against Republican Muckraking:
Puerto Rican Buss Contract Canceled; Cleveland Bail-
ley Made Unprecedented
Speech.

WASHINGTON. — When veteran Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio opened the secret Republican caucus this week, he said with a chuckle: "I do not have a schedule of procedure. However, when the Democrats completed their caucus in this chamber a few hours ago, they perhaps inadvertently left a copy of their agenda behind them. Maybe we should adopt it here as a gesture of good will. We have to get along with these fellows for the next two years."

Brown would hardly have suggested following the Democrats had he known what transpired at the opposition caucus. There "Mr.
Sam" Rayburn of Texas — the
"Mr. Big" of the House of Representatives — unloaded some pent-up steam which had been bothering him, as well as many other Democrats, for some time.

"The country must come first,"
the new speaker proclaimed. "On issues affecting the national security the President can expect and will get our support."

"However," continued Rayburn,
"we Democrats cannot forget some of the tactics employed by the President's own party in the last campaign, the reckless smearing
of Democrats as alleged traitors,
with which the President saw fit
to identify himself."

Rayburn specifically singled out
Vice President Nixon as the bullwether of these attacks. But he also pinned responsibility on Eisenhower. The President, he said, had first contended he hadn't read Nixon's statement in the newspapers. Later he praised Nixon for doing a "great job" in the last campaign.

"In my estimation, that makes Eisenhower a party to these unwarranted attacks on our patriotism," Rayburn told the secret caucus. "I'm of a forgiving nature, but I cannot forgive or forget the nasty aspersions that were hurled on my party by some people high in the councils of the Republican party."

"Attacks on our loyalty, as Americans, are far beyond the normally accepted tactics in a political campaign," said the man who has served longer consecutively
in Congress than anyone else.
"The last campaign marked
an all-time low for gutter politics and political muckraking."

NO MORE PEARL HARBORS
Rayburn further told the closed-door session that with the world
sitting on the edge of a precipice, Democrats in Congress
would give no support to GOP efforts to balance the federal budget "at the sacrifice of an adequate national defense."

"I hate to pay taxes the same as everyone else, including the New York bankers who are preaching about a balanced budget at a time when our democratic economy is threatened by the deadliest foreign enemy we have ever faced,"
said Mr. Sam.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, he recalled, pleaded in vain for sufficient defense funds prior to World War II.

"That war eventually cost us about $400,000,000,000," Rayburn continued, "whereas the expenditure of a few more billions earlier might have prevented the Jap attacking the foundations, let alone
judging them."

Since Communists still manage to seep into many places in American life, no doubt the foundations do not have a perfect record on this score. But Reece's charges are far more sweeping than this.

What they really seem to mean is that the foundations are living in a world, and trying to help people understand and cope with a world, which Reece does not like.
He would like to repeal the course of history since the Great Depression.

His report cannot actually minimize the rich contribution they have made to American life. It will stand simply as a low-water
mark in congressional inquiries,
and as a potential bible for political irresponsibles.

tack on Pearl Harbor.
"The same is true today," concluded the speaker. "Even though it throws the budget out of balance, we must spare no defense spending to make our nation so strong that no predatory dictator or international pirate will dare attack us."

SPOTLESS GOVERNOR
Unlike some Washington bureaucrats, the governor of Puerto Rico
is not opposed to taking a suggestion from the press.

Last month this column reported: "Mystery surrounds the reason why General Motors continues to be the highest bidder and get contracts despite that. Recently, Puerto Rico asked bids on 50 buses.
Lowest bid was made by Mack Trucks. Highest bid was by General Motors—$900 per bus higher than Mack. General Motors got the contract. Total extra cost to Puerto Ricans: $45,000."

Gov. Munoz Marin, who has a spotless record for honesty in government, read the column in the San Juan El Imparcial, immediately jumped into action. He canceled the contract for school buses, ordered his transportation authority to ask for new bids. He went even further. His office took the trouble to write a letter to this column expressing appreciation for calling the matter to his attention.

ONE MAN'S PLEA
There was only one tense moment in the otherwise outwardly calm Democratic closed-door caucus. This was when West Virginia's Congressman Cleveland Bailey defied his party's leaders and fore-d to permit him to make a speech.

The genial Bailey comes from a part of West Virginia suffering tragic unemployment in the coal mines. So he took Speaker Sam Rayburn aside as the caucus opened and warned that he would propose to the full caucus that it abolish the customary rule limiting the meeting to the picking of leaders.
Such a motion would open the love feast to wrangles over various thorny political questions.

Inside Bailey's pocket was the text of a stirring speech on West Virginia. And this threat was his way of telling Sam that he meant to deliver it.

"I'll never get all 231 of these fellows together again to tell them
the sad economic story of my state," Bailey told Speaker Rayburn.

Rayburn knew that if Bailey
made his motion, it would set off a party free-for-all that would be heard all over Washington. So he tried to coax Bailey by appealing to party unity, but Bailey wouldn't be budged. Finally Sam huddled with party leaders John McCormack of Massachusetts and John Rooney of New York, then offered to let the West Virginian speak his piece—if he'd promise not to offer his amendment.

With a wink and a smile, Bailey accepted the compromise, thereby won the distinction of being the only Democrat at the caucus to make a speech on behalf of his district.

Note — Bailey has been making daily trips to Assistant Agriculture

Secretary Earl Butz demanding that West Virginia get some of the surplus wheat that's being used for foreign relief. He claims the gift is authorized by a section of the Surplus Foods Disposal Act. He should know. He wrote the revision.

Vatican Says Pope May Not Return To Full Duties

VATICAN CITY — Vatican
sources said today Pope Pius XII
may never again return to the fast pace of carrying on his full duties
as spiritual leader of 425 million Roman Catholics.

These sources noted that although the Pope is out of danger
he now gets up an hour later and goes to bed four hours earlier, at 10 p. m. instead of 2 a. m.

The Pope's amazing battle against gastritis that almost killed him last month has left him in a weakened state in the most critical winter of his 16-year reign.

Doctors attending the Pope said
his heart and lungs are in excellent condition but have ordered him to rest.

"For the Pope, there is no rest,"
the Pope has often told the doctors.

The Pope is scheduled to walk down one floor of his apartment
Wednesday to receive French President Pierre Mendes-France in the first audience he has granted since November.

This arrangement is considered strong evidence of the Pope's recovery from his near-fatal illness.

Eisenhower Asks Tariff Cutting Powers

United States and her responsibility as a world leader require a foreign economic program that will stimulate economic growth in the Free World by enlarging the opportunities for free enterprise and competitive markets.

He said there are three basic reasons for such a program:

1. Economic strength among this country's allies is essential to U.S. security.
2. "Economic growth in underdeveloped areas is necessary to lessen international instability growing out of the vulnerability of such areas to communist penetration and subversion."
3. Increasing volume of world production and trade will help assure economic growth and a rising standard of living at home.

Mr. Eisenhower sought similar legislation in a message to the 83rd Congress last March. But it ran into prompt and formidable Republican opposition.

Red Planes Hit Tachen Islands

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Red China staged the heaviest air assault in five years of coastal warfare against Chiang Kai-shek's Tachen Islands today, showering 300 bombs from 100 planes in four separate raids.

The attacks were so severe that Nationalist officials held a series of conferences to consider the critical situation.

A communique from the Nationalist Ministry of Defense said "many" civilians were killed and wounded among the islands' 13,000 inhabitants. But there was no mention of military casualties or damage.

The Communist air attack against the tiny island 200 miles north of Formosa also far surpassed anything experienced by United Nations' forces during the Korea War.

One Red plane was believed to have been shot down. The Red pilots were met with intense ground anti-aircraft fire but no Nationalist fighters went out to intercept the Red Chinese bombers.

Stars and Bars was the name given the first Confederate flag, adopted in 1861 by the Confederate convention in Montgomery, Ala.

The Illinois GOP celebration of Lincoln's birthday on February 12 at Chicago will be a gala affair. State Chairman Morton H. Hollingsworth, Joliet, says it will be of statewide nature. Governor Stratton and other state prominent will attend. It will climax programs which Hollingsworth says will be held in every county in the state during the week of February 7.

A year-end report by the Illinois Health Department discloses 1954 progress in the state's fight against stream pollution. The report said nine new sewage disposal plants were built to bring the state total to 329 (serving 6,250,000 persons) in addition to 300 waste treatment plants at Illinois industries and institutions. It discloses issuances of 400 permits for, and approval of, sewerage construction.

Autoist Turns in License After Accident

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—A driver voluntarily turned in his driver's license to the secretary of state's office here after admitting he was wrong. He said he hit a log truck and got a ticket for failure to yield right of way. He wrote: "I always said that if I was to blame for an accident I would never drive another car, so I'm sending my driver's license back. It's no good to me."

He added this postscript: "I'm 77, so it's time to quit."

HTHS Chorus to Present Operettas at Bonnell Gym Feb. 22

Sunday Excursion and Lowland Sea have been selected as operettas to be presented by the chorus at the Harrisburg Township high school Feb. 2, in Bonnell gym.

Sunday Excursion and Lowland Sea are modern, one-act operettas with music composed by Alec Wilder and libretto by Arthur Sundgard. Sunday Excursion is a comedy containing five main soloists; and Lowland Sea is more of a drama with only three main soloists, but with a chorus. The operettas will be presented in modern fashion with limited suggestive staging and costumes. The operettas will be directed by John Schork.

Gov. Stratton Keeps Lookout for Traffic Violators While Driving on Highways

BY DON E. CHAMBERLAIN
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—Truckers beware! If you spot a black limousine with "Official 1" license on it, better slow down and watch your driving. For Gov. William G. Stratton and his driver, State Police Lieut. Leonard Wertz, Pontiac, may be watching you and if they are you could be in trouble.

Not that the state's chief executive had taken to playing policeman, but as he travels he keeps a lookout for traffic violators and already several trucks have been stopped and the drivers given stiff warnings. Two were exceeding the speed rate and one trucker passed the governor's automobile on a shoulder which also was using the shoulder to get by a road barricade.

One of the trucks with 14,000 pound load was exceeding the 40 mile limit and the other with a load under 14,000 was travelling at a clip faster than the 45 mile limit for such trucks. The incidents occurred in different parts of the state. Usually, Wertz said, truckers are careful, courteous and among the most law abiding users of the highways.

Chances are Stratton was picking up some background information on the need of a law which would slow down trucks and passenger automobiles. He favors a speed limit for passenger cars and of lowering the limit for trucks. State Safety Director Joseph D. Bibb, Chicago, advocates limiting passenger cars to 65 miles an hour in daytime, 50 at night time.

Although the 1953 General Assembly passed a bill to authorize counties with a population under 150,000 to create the office of county tax assessor, only nine counties so far have taken advantage of it. They are Ford, Williamson, Jackson, McDonough, Kendall, McLean, Bureau, Macoupin and Crawford. Sponsors of the law included Reps. Richard Stengel, Rock Island, and R. T. McLoskey, Monmouth.

The 1953-54 Illinois Blue Book was released here this week. The first batch went to members of the General Assembly. The book contains more than 800 pages of information about state government, including a 30-page article on the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates, by State Historian Harry E. Pratt, Springfield. Research for the book was by Joseph Jones, former Springfield newspaperman.

State road building in Illinois in 1954 cost $98 million, an all-time high, according to Governor Stratton. Spending exceeded the 1953 total by $14,600,000 and topped the 1952 mark by $25,868,000. Involved were nearly 700 miles of road improvement including 153 miles of new concrete pavement which included 89 miles of four lane pavement on U. S. 66.

Illinois now ranks seventh among the states in the production of minerals. Dr. Walter H. Voskill, head of the mineral economics section of the State Geological Survey, Urbana, says that during 1954 Illinois produced one-half billion dollars worth of minerals. Coal and oil, he said, accounted for $349 million. Other minerals included sand, gravel, fluorspar and clay.

Bull Dogs Drop 90-58 Tilt at Marion

Locals Play One Game This Week—At West Frankfort Friday Night

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs this week have but a single cage contest—a South Seven game at West Frankfort Friday night—which follows a double loss to loop teams last week-end.

After losing to the league-leading Centralia Orphans at Davenport gym Friday night the Bull Dogs travelled to Marion the next evening and dropped a 90-58 decision to the ever-pressing Wildcats.

The Wildcats pressed and the Bull Dogs made mistakes. The Wildcats hit well and rebounded better than the locals. As a result the victory was lop-sided.

For a few minutes the game was close but Marion was out in front 19-12 at the end of the first quarter. Then in the second period the boys of Coach Cliff Storme scored 28 points to but 15 for Harrisburg and the halftime lead was 47-27. At the end of the third period the count was 67-37.

Bull Pups Win Preliminary
Wendell Hill was high scorer of the game, making 22 of the Marion points. He was closely followed by his teammate, Dale Harris, who had 21. Two substitutes also did very well, Sam Brown with 14 and Bob May with 13.

For Harrisburg, Don Price was high scorer with 19 points. Besides five field goals, Don made nine out of 10 free throw attempts.

Best thing about the Harrisburg game was the 24 out of 32 free shot attempts made.

In the preliminary contest the Bull Pups won a thriller, 56-51. The locals led 11-8 at the quarter but Marion was ahead 27-25 at half-time. The third quarter ended all tied up, 39-39. Then with two minutes, 15 seconds to go Harrisburg held a seven-point lead, 52-45, and things looked pretty bright. But with just a minute left Marion had moved up to within one point. In the closing minute Harrisburg scored four points on a field goal and two free throws.

Heat and cold have little effect on some animals and fish. A fish was found in the hot springs of Ceylon at a temperature of more than 120 degrees Fahrenheit. And an Alaskan stonefly lives and carries on its activity in a temperature of 32 degrees—just freezing. Some plants can stand even lower temperatures. In an inactive state some organisms can survive even at temperatures several hundred degrees below zero.

HEIGHT OF SHOOTING—Arnie Risen, 6-9, of Rochester, left, and New York's Harry Gallatin, 6-6, have height to spare when they take shots. The National Basketball Association doesn't have many better big men than Risen, veteran Royal hook shot artist, and Gallatin, the Knickerbockers' hard-working rebounder. (NEA)

Georgia Tech Ends Kentucky Streak, 59-58

By United Press

To a basketball world completely flabbergasted by Kentucky's streak-smashing loss to Georgia Tech in one of the greatest upsets of all time, disappointed Coach Adolph Rupp admitted today, "It was no fluke."

Nothing could have amazed court fans any more than Saturday night's final score at Lexington, Ky. — Georgia Tech 59, Kentucky 58.

Joe Helms, smallest man on the Tech team, pulled the trigger on the upset when he stole the ball with only seconds left, dribbled in and let fly a push shot that swished through the basket with three seconds to play. At one stunning stroke, the basket smashed Kentucky records of 32 straight victories over a two-year span, seven short of the all-time record; 129 straight home victories over an 11-year span; and an unbeaten string of 70 games over a 15-year span at home against Southeastern Conference foes.

The Engineers had a 2-22 record last year, 24 this year, and only two nights before had been beaten by Sewanee.

Kentucky moved to an early seven-point lead but Tech caught up at 16-16 and led at halftime.

26-23. Tech led through most of the second half but Kentucky gained the lead with less than two minutes to play, setting the stage for the stunning climax.

Kentucky's downfall overshadowed two other surprises that would have been "shockers" on another night — Duquesne's 82-72 loss to St. Francis of Pennsylvania, and Richmond's 72-67 triumph over George Washington.

Duquesne, ranked No. 2 nationally, got little help from All-American Dick Ricketts, hampered by a strained ankle, and was dealt a fatal blow when Si Green fouled out with five minutes to go after scoring 26 points. Maurice Stokes, a six-six star, paced St. Francis with 24 points.

George Washington went into its game with Richmond ranked No. 13 nationally.

Kentucky's loss also stole the headlines from Furman's 154-67 victory over Citadel — believed by the NCAA to be the greatest score ever run up by one major college against another. Darrell Floyd, Furman's "new Frank Selvy," scored 50.

As the second canto commenced, the Mirandamen gave every indication it was going to be their night. Looping two quick baskets, they moved in front 22-17. But Eldorado deemed otherwise, and with Whittier and Lovellette sparking the fireworks, the Eagles scored 23 points before Galatia could chalk up another.

Eldorado finished the half with an apparently comfortable 42-24 lead.

Galatia Launches Final Bid
The third quarter brought almost a reversal of the second, Galatia outscoring the Eagles, 16-2 in the first half of the period. Leading by a mere 44-40 after their wide 18-point margin, Eldorado recovered in the last three minutes of the third and charged off once more to a 10-point edge. The Eagles led going into the fourth, 58-48.

Al Adams' invaders maintained their 19-point command until the final three and a half minutes. Glenn Clarida then launched Galatia's closing bid for honors, the attack bringing the Bearcats within three points of Eldorado at the game-ending buzzer.

Lovellette and Whittier paced the victors with 26 and 22 points respectively. Galatia's offensive was well balanced with all five starters contributing ten or more.

Galatia hit 28 of 69 from the field, Eldorado 29 of 67. The Bearcats hit 13 of 15 free throw attempts to the Eagles' 14 of 26 efforts.

Eagles Hold Off Galatia Rally To Win, 72-69

A second quarter lull in an otherwise hard-fought contest proved Galatia's undoing Saturday night, as the Bearcats hosted their arch rivals from Eldorado. The Eagles withstood Galatia's gallant uphill battle in the final half, winning 72-69.

Both teams jumped into the fray without hesitation, Eldorado pulling away after a few minutes' play. In the closing minutes of the opening quarter, Galatia's Larry Manker went on a one-man scoring spree, and the Bearcats wound up an 18-17 leader with the buzzer.

As the second canto commenced, the Mirandamen gave every indication it was going to be their night. Looping two quick baskets, they moved in front 22-17. But Eldorado deemed otherwise, and with Whittier and Lovellette sparking the fireworks, the Eagles scored 23 points before Galatia could chalk up another.

Eldorado finished the half with an apparently comfortable 42-24 lead.

Galatia Launches Final Bid
The third quarter brought almost a reversal of the second, Galatia outscoring the Eagles, 16-2 in the first half of the period. Leading by a mere 44-40 after their wide 18-point margin, Eldorado recovered in the last three minutes of the third and charged off once more to a 10-point edge. The Eagles led going into the fourth, 58-48.

Al Adams' invaders maintained their 19-point command until the final three and a half minutes. Glenn Clarida then launched Galatia's closing bid for honors, the attack bringing the Bearcats within three points of Eldorado at the game-ending buzzer.

Lovellette and Whittier paced the victors with 26 and 22 points respectively. Galatia's offensive was well balanced with all five starters contributing ten or more.

Galatia hit 28 of 69 from the field, Eldorado 29 of 67. The Bearcats hit 13 of 15 free throw attempts to the Eagles' 14 of 26 efforts.

Purdue, Unbeaten in Big Ten Race, Meets Illinois In Feature Tilt Tonight

CHICAGO (U)—What could be the Big Ten's best-balanced basketball race heads into its third major night of competition tonight. Purdue, which has played only one game, is the only unbeaten team.

The Boilermakers with the best overall record in the conference thus far, eight wins in nine games, entertain Illinois in the feature meeting of the night.

Other matches pit Indiana at Minnesota, Michigan State at Iowa and Wisconsin at Michigan.

Purdue held first place by the scantiest of margins over eight other schools, all of them with records of one win and one defeat in two games.

Carterville Trips Carrier Mills, 47 to 43

The Carrier Mills Wildcats went down to defeat on their home floor Saturday night and a home-court winning streak that had been extended over 32 games was broken.

The Carterville Lions, coached by Jack Archer, came up with a 47-43 victory and accomplished what no other visiting team had done in a stretch of 32 games reaching over a period of three years—walk off the Carrier Mills gym with a victory.

Carterville entered the game with a record of three victories and five defeats, not an impressive record, but included in the defeats were games with Marion, Herrin and Elkhart—strong clubs.

Weakness at the free throw line probably cost Carrier Mills the victory. The Cats hit a 405 on charity tosses, with nine out of 22, with many of the misses on the first try, thereby losing the bonus toss.

Carterville hit an even 500 on free throws, connecting on 15 of 30.

Millard, entering the game with a plus 16 points per game, was high scorer for the Lions with seven fielders and six free tosses totaling 20 markers.

Oliver Rollins, even though he experienced his worst game of the season, paced Carrier Mills with 16 points. Rollins fouled out with 2:05 minutes left to play in the game, one of the few times in his three-year high school career that he has had five fouls called in a game.

The game was close all the way, with four points representing the biggest advantage either club enjoyed at any one time and Carterville having a four-point spread on only two occasions—but when it counted the most. In the final seconds Carterville spurred from a 42-41 deficit to a 46-42 lead, then swapped free throws for the final 47-43 count.

Carrier Mills won the preliminary game 45-41.

Tuesday night Carrier Mills plays at Metropolis. The game will be broadcast over WEBQ by Ken Hamilton and Elmer Gladson.

College Stars

Defeat Pros, 33-13, In Hula Bowl

HONOLULU (U)—The all-around performance of Colorado's winged footed Carroll Hardy received most of the credit today for the college football All-Stars surprisingly easy 33-13 victory over the pro-studied Hawaii All-Stars in the ninth annual Hula Bowl.

Carroll gave way to his backfield mate in the scoring department. But his faultless running through the weak Hawaii line and his long range punting, which averaged more than 50 yards in four boots, earned him the Governor's Cup as the game's outstanding player.

Some 22,000 in Honolulu Stadium watched in amazement Sunday as the collegians outplayed in every department such professional stars as Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch, Lou (The Toe) Groza, Otto Graham and Gordy Soltau.

Fight The Wild River

by EDMUNDS CLAUSSEN

THE STORY: Captain Crotch's deckhands on the riverboat General Heath are battling desperadoes who seek to obtain a shipment of rifles destined for a Union Army outpost up the Colorado River. Crotch's life was saved by Radcliff Burke, who had seemed to be behind the move to get the rifles. Burke shot down a man who was about to shoot the captain.

Without their leader the Gila City mob soon backed over the gangplank. Actually, they had been defeated before Belaire went down. They had known it, and Belaire had known it—Crotch had read the desperation in his face, even as the man's gun was turning toward him.

But what were the reasons for Burke coming to the General Heath's support? Now, as Crotch recalled the look on Belaire's face, he knew the man had recognized Burke in that last moment before death blanked his mind.

Crotch thrust his gaze on Burke and found him still holding his pistol.

"You fight like a veteran," Burke admitted coolly. "I had no idea they'd battle so fiercely for steamboat passage."

Crotch started a growl low in his throat. Now it came to him clearly: shooting would be bound to arouse Murphy, and once that first shot had been fired by Belaire, Burke's plan had miscarried. What good was his wagon, his loaded guns, when he was too weak to withstand a charge of the post's cavalry? Primarily, Burke was a shrewd man. He had altered his plan, electing to buy his way into Crotch's confidence by saving his life.

Crotch turned away from Burke toward his own men. I don't owe him anything, he thought. Burke had masterminded this raid after the rifles; he had had his own strange reasons for being satisfied with Belaire's death. There had been no favor, Crotch would give none in return.

On the foredeck he found Melott with his head pressed between cupped palms. His engineer had taken severe punishment and was groaning.

"Whatever made them put up such a fight? Whatever made them do it?" Melott demanded.

"Jim, it's not what you think," Melott removed one hand at a time from his rank wet face. He had bony, lean features, a long sharp nose and a cleft chin. His eyes were points of fire. "Why did you say that?"

"We're carrying guns for the army. For the Federals, Jim." Melott's lips were white and his eyes were shadowy blanks, expressing absolutely nothing. He said heavily, "I had an idea of that. Why do we have to do it? What's the matter with sending them overland? Murphy could make up a train."

"No, Jim! Murphy can't spare men enough to guard that kind of shipment. The Apaches would go for those guns!"

"What about the Amador? Did Jamison turn them down?" "Murphy didn't give him a chance. He's afraid of Maddix, of Calhoun," Crotch paused, then added, "He knows Navigation's out to break us."

Melott stared across the dry stretch of arrow-weed that swept beyond range of eyesight. For a long time he had known something like this was going to happen. The Territory was too important not to be fought over, and the General Heath must come into it.

He said stiffly, "I was born under the same flag as you. It hasn't made the wisest choice in this, nor done all that was fair. But I guess it will still do. It will have to do, Irv—there's no other way."

An hour later his passengers began climbing over the side. Now they had enough fists and guns to withstand further trouble. Passengers on the river boats always fought for their own packet. Considering the Apache desert on each side of the river it was a good thing this was so.

Crotch's gaze fell on Dreyfus coming over the gangplank. A woman! He was taking Queenie back to La Paz!

His eyes flicked to her and he knew an instant's sharp regret. He realized at once Queenie had thrown over her bakery shop for this. For this life in the parched hills with the utter loneliness, the hardship and the song of the wolves at night. Then, oddly, he remembered her tone when she had asked if Burke was coming upriver. It wasn't Dreyfus, then, but Burke!

"She'll be no trouble to you," Dreyfus said as he pressed a sack of gold into the captain's hand. "Staterooms are all taken," Crotch murmured tritely.

"Where Dreyfus sleeps will be all right with me," Queenie said. Her expression was gay, care-free, very nearly radiant. Crotch thought. She was dressed in a newly made Indian skirt.

Later, he went back with his passengers and saw Dreyfus spread his blanket over the deck in the bow of the ship. Alongside it Dreyfus laid his rifle. Others were already sleeping beside him; the deck was beginning to fill with dark shapes of men in various positions of rest. They had no top covering—the wind on the river was like the blast from a furnace, and marsh mosquitoes were thick in the air.

Now Queenie was coming toward him as a brisk walk and Crotch paused beside the rail.

"You don't think I'm doing the right thing?" she asked quietly.

He lifted a shoulder. "So long as you don't hurt Dreyfus."

She paused a moment, then: "I'll do right by him."
